COURSE DESCRIPTION AND OBJECTIVES
This is an introductory course designed to teach students how to write scripts for radio, television and film with brief exposure to non-broadcast media writing. Students will learn the basic requirements for writing PSAs, commercials, news copy, interview/talk shows, documentary and dramatic features. This course will teach standard formats and techniques used by professional scriptwriters including preliminary proposals, outlines, treatments, screenplays and scripts, as well as key terms and concept development and analysis.

Students must be prepared to write extensively both online and outside of class and be willing to have their writing analyzed and critiqued by fellow students. On-time submissions and participation in class exercises and discussions are essential. The ability to write and/or analyze a script is an essential skill for anyone who desires a career in Broadcast Communications or any area of the media, whether you want to be a writer or not.

PREREQUISITE
Students must have completed ENGLISH 101 or have equivalent writing ability.

REQUIRED TEXTS
Writing for Television, Radio and New Media, 11th edition, by Robert L. Hilliard
Making a Good Script Great, 3rd edition, by Linda Seger

RECOMMENDED TEXTS
An English grammar text, dictionary and thesaurus.

REQUIRED SOFTWARE
• A word-processing program such as MS Word
• Script formatting software such as: celtx.com (free, version 2.7) or Final Draft and/or Final Draft A/V (pay)
• PDF software such as: PDF995.com (free for Windows), Skim (free for Mac OS 10) at http://skim-app.sourceforge.net/ or Adobe Acrobat or Adobe Reader

Discussion Board Exercises

Writing exercises and peer review discussions are important elements of this class. To receive timely and constructive feedback you must post exercises to the discussion board by the date due. ALL exercises must be in proper format. These exercises may be rewritten as many times as you wish to attain 11 points. In addition, by the following due date you must read at least two other exercises by fellow classmates and respond or critique for additional 3 points. Reading and responding to more than two submissions will earn an additional bonus point.

Three Discussion Board Bonus Questions are spaced throughout the semester. These will be on days when there is no exercise due. I hope you will respond to these questions to create a lively and informative discussion.

Section Assignments

These seven writing assignments will constitute the majority of your grade. They show how much you have learned in every important area of scriptwriting. These should be submitted to the Assignment drop box in PDF format as an attachment. These assignments may be rewritten as many times as you wish to attain additional points. Section Assignments are not available for peer review. NOTE: LATE NARRATIVE FINAL SCRIPTS WILL NOT BE ACCEPTED.

Rewriting Exercises and Section Assignments

Students are strongly encouraged to rewrite their weekly exercises and section assignments and resubmit for an improved grade by Sunday, December 7. No rewritten or late exercises will be accepted after this date. Late exercised should be posted to the discussion board, and late section assignments should be posted to the appropriate drop box. Rewritten Exercises and Section Assignments should be emailed through Blackboard. Try to rewrite the exercises and assignments as soon as possible so you don't get jammed up at the end of the semester.

Additional Grading Factors

It is important to proofread your submissions carefully. Misspellings and incorrect grammar and formatting are unprofessional, indicate sloppy thinking, as well as making your material hard to read and comprehend. They are not tolerated in the industry. Two misspelling or grammar mistakes in an exercise will lower your grade by 2 points. More than two mistakes will lower your grade 3 points or more. Incorrect formatting will lower your grade by up to 5 points.
Two mistakes in a 100 point Section Assignment will lower your grade by 20 points. More than two mistakes will lower your grade 30 points or more. Use the spell check feature of your software, but you should not rely totally on it. If you are a bad speller have someone else read your submissions. Incorrect formatting will lower your grade by up to 50 points. Section Assignments worth 50 and 200 points will have the same proportional deductions.

Read and print out the document entitled: Tips on Formatting and Submitting Exercises and Section Assignments. This will give you instructions on using the Celtx program as well as the proper identification of your submissions.

EMAIL REQUIREMENTS
Blackboard Learn has an alert when you have a message, so please check your email every time you log into the program. I use email to return graded assignments. Look at these as soon as you receive them. Email me if you have any questions especially if you cannot open my notes (stickies). General questions can be posted to the discussion board or the Q and A section.

MOVIE VIEWING REQUIREMENTS
The second half of the semester will concentrate on writing scenes and scripts for film or television. We will be using two study films, My Cousin Vinny, and The Verdict. Please watch them prior to Week Ten. They are available through the MxCC library (ask at desk), your local library or Netflix.

CLASS DECORUM
Peer review is an important element of this class. It is instructive for the reader as well as the writer, so please read and review as many submissions as possible. When critiquing fellow students please be considerate, constructive and professional. Please do not be disparaging or offensive. I expect professional behavior at all times. Always reread your responses and emails before hitting send.

IMPORTANT COLLEGE POLICIES!! PLEASE READ CAREFULLY!!
For information about the college's policies and procedures regarding academic honesty, accessibility/disability services, attendance, audio-recording in the classroom, grade appeals, plagiarism, religious accommodations, weather and emergency closings, and more, please go to the following website: www.mxcc.edu/catalog/syllabus-policies/ or scan the QR code with your smart phone. - Students will learn the process of scriptwriting from idea to concept statement, to outline, to treatment, to script and rewriting.

BROADCAST COMMUNICATIONS PROGRAM OUTCOMES FOR SCRIPTWRITING
Students will demonstrate knowledge and proficiency in the analysis, development and creation of audio and video content for a variety of media used in mass communications industries:

CONTENT

- Students can express ideas using the aesthetic elements used in film and broadcast media (photography, mise en scene, editing, audio, scriptwriting, acting, etc.)
- Students develop and express ideas and information into finished scripts using proper narrative structure and style for a variety of filmed applications
- Students can develop a thesis and perform research in preparation for creating scripts and producing programming for broadcast journalism, documentary and entertainment programs
- Students can storyboard and structure scenes in preparation for shooting scripts
- Students effectively communicate ideas through the production process using aesthetic elements and tools used in the industry
- Students will be able to create programming using the three main techniques used in broadcast media for various applications:
  - Techniques: electronic news gathering, electronic field (film) production and studio/remote studio production
  - Applications: news, sports, documentary, talk show, situation comedy, drama.
- Students can create programming using industry standard technology
- Students use critical thinking skills to analyze and evaluate program content and quality
- Students use critical thinking skills to analyze and evaluate program content and quality to improve their writing and production skills

ORGANIZATION

- Students will organize research in preparation for program creation
- Students will understand how program creation is organized: Pre-Production, Production and Post-Production
- Students will organize script content

MECHANICS

- Students can create scripts and proposals in acceptable formats using proper software
- Students can understand the use of the storyboard

FORM

- Students write scripts in differing formats for various applications (news, announcements, narrative, documentary, voice over)

STYLE

- Students learn how varying production conditions and specific techniques such as lighting, audio, varying editing, adding effects, can develop a unique visual and personal style

PROCESS

- Students use various processes--from idea, script, pre-production, production and post-production to successfully complete projects.

This course is important because it will strengthen your critical thinking writing and oral communication skills. Additionally, COM 111 meets all general education core competencies but one: Mathematical Reasoning.

- Communication: The interactive process through which there is an exchange of verbal and/or nonverbal information.
- Cultural Awareness: Acknowledgement that society is diverse with groups of individuals possessing differing beliefs, values, attitudes, and customs that are shared from one generation to the next.
- Social and Civic Responsibility: Behavior that demonstrates adherence to legal/ethical standards established by society.
• Critical Thinking: Modes of reasoning including analyzing data, evaluating alternatives, setting priorities, and predicting outcomes.
• Mathematical Reasoning: Determination of approach, materials, and strategies necessary to solve a problem.
• Technology Utilization: Use tools of the trade to achieve a specific outcome.

These core competencies are important personally, academically, and professionally. The outcomes, as stated in the syllabus, are covered in this course. This course is required for an Associate’s Degree in Broadcast Communications.
